Marketbasket Cost Mixed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Life isn't getting any sweeter for the beleaguered Ohio housewife, who now faces a jump in the price of sugar that could run as high as 42 per cent or more.

An Associated Press survey of a dozen Ohio cities showed the price of sugar had already jumped 16 per cent on the average in the last 28 days. And, several supermarkets shopped in the survey projected higher sugar prices soon.

Small Atoll In Indian Ocean Sparks U.S.-Soviet Discord

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A propaganda war is heating up over a tiny speck in the Indian Ocean and it could be serious enough to throw a substantial block on the road to Soviet-American mutual trust.

This tropical fly threatening the smooth ointment of détente is in the form of a little coral atoll called Diego Garcia, unknown to almost all but geographers and military planners.

Its location makes it important far out of proportion to its size. The atoll lies almost dead center in the Indian Ocean, 1,000 miles southwest of the southern tip of India and 2,000 miles southeast of the Arabian Peninsula. It is part of Britain's uninhabited Chagos archipelago, five coral atolls known once as the Oil Islands.

The location means that as a base it can command the Arabian Sea and thus approaches to the Red Sea and Persian Gulf, whose lands are repositories of enormous stores of precious oil.

Diego Garcia, a British naval station in World War II, was destined to attract global notice because of modern developments in world power politics. Russia under the czars always had a hungry interest in Asia, held off by the then-mighty British Empire. Under the Communists the interest was reasserted as early as 1919, when Foreign Commissar Georgi Chicherin announced that the future of revolution lay in Asia.

In 1967, the United States Defense Department probably took notice of what the top Soviet naval commander had to say only a month after the six-

"The cost of sugar today is $1.15 for five pounds buying by the carload," said a spokesman for a major Ohio supermarket chain. "A month ago it was 90 cents and a year ago about 70 cents."

Supermarkets in Akron, Athens, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Conneaut, Dayton, Massillon, Van Wert, Youngstown, Coshocton and Zanesville appeared to be selling sugar under present cost.

day Arab-Israeli war ended.

"Today, the naval flags of the Soviet Union are flying over the seven seas of the world. The U.S.A. will sooner or later wake up to the fact that the United States is not the only master of the seas," Adm. Sergei G. Gorshkov said then.

Six months later Gorshkov was in India. Shortly thereafter the Russians acquired access to base facilities there. A superpower contest in the Indian Ocean clearly was in prospect.

Last October's Middle East war, the resultant oil crisis and a certainty that a settlement meant reopening the Suez Canal, all quickened American interest in Diego Garcia. The canal would shorten Soviet communications between the Black Sea and Indian Ocean fleets, making them far more potent in the supersensitive area of the Arabian Sea.

The Americans already had been on Diego Garcia under 1966 and 1972 agreements with Britain, operating a small communications station as part of a global communications net. Manned by 200 naval personnel, the station began operating early in 1973.

Last January the Pentagon disclosed discussions with Britain to expand the station so it could support naval operations.

Soviet propaganda has been growing steadily about the proposition, calling the area a focal point for military confrontation and threat to Asian peace. On the other hand, the United States evinces acute awareness of possible Soviet influence on Persian Gulf oil, and the Indian Ocean plans would represent a counterweight.

other two members on each of the politically even boards have two years left in their terms.

The Senate passed the pay raise bill last July, and the House-State Government Committee recommended approval two weeks later. The bill then languished in the House Rules Committee until this week when Brown sent a reminder to legislative leaders.

Rep. Thomas P. Gilmartin, D-51 Youngstown, brought the bill to the House floor and requested approval of it with an emergency clause. But before his motion could be voted on, Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, received word the Senate—which would have had to approve the emergency—had quit for the week.

Average price for five pounds of cane sugar in these 12 cities was 94 cents—ranging from a cheap 81 cents at Conneaut to $1.09 in Columbus.

A supermarket manager in Athens said his 95-cent price was due to go over a dollar next week.

If the supermarkets sell at the wholesale price the projected advance could hit 42 per cent in Conneaut and just under 6 per cent in Columbus.

Still, Ohio food buyers scored at least a minor triumph in the battle against the cost of living. The price of eggs dropped 19 per cent in the last four weeks.

"I think that when eggs got up towards a dollar a dozen, the housewives just cut down buying," said a supermarket chain spokesman.

"That and milder weather brought increased laying, just a matter of agricultural economics."

Eggs averaged 75 cents a dozen in the checked cities compared to a January average of 93 cents a dozen. The range was from 59 cents in Massillon to 89 cents in Athens, Cincinnati, Columbus and Dayton.

Butter also dropped noticeably in the markets checked, down to 87 cents a pound compared to the 93 cents of January. That was a 6.5 per cent decrease.

The shopping list included center cut pork chops, ground chuck, beef frankfurters, eggs, butter, chocolate chip cookies, frozen orange juice, paper towels, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk and sugar.

Center cut pork chops averaged 1.55 a pound, down a nickel from a month ago and ground chuck slipped to $1.32 a pound compared to $1.34 a month earlier. Beef frankfurters gained fractionally, up a cent to $1.29 a pound.

Prices for other items on the list varied only fractionally.

Most economical city was Massillon. The entire marketbasket would have cost $10.04, up 26 cents, with Columbus providing the top of the range at $11.77, up 88 cents.

Top Ex-Officials Indicted By Jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, once President Nixon's top White House aides, and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell were indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges they tried to block the Watergate investigation.

All told, the Watergate grand jury returned indictments against seven men, including Charles W. Colson, who had served as a White House special counsel.

The others indicted were former Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian; former presidential aide Gordon C. Strachan; and Kenneth W. Parkinson, an attorney for President Nixon's reelection finance committee.

The indictments climaxed a 20-month investigation, and along with them, the grand jury delivered a sealed report to U.S. Dist. Court Judge John J. Sirica.

There have been reports that such a secret presentment might contain grand jury findings involving President Nixon.

In addition, the grand jury gave the judge two black suitcases containing Watergate evidence.

Sirica told the panel it may face further proceedings in the Watergate case. He said the jurors were not dismissed, and may be called upon to resume their secret deliberations in two weeks.

The charges were:

—Ehrlichman—one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice, one count of lying to FBI agents and two counts of lying to the grand jury or the court;

—Haldeman, one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and three counts of perjury;

—Mitchell, one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice, two counts of lying to a grand jury or court, one count of perjury and one count of lying to FBI agents;

—Colson, Mardian and Parkinson, one count each of conspiracy to obstruct justice;

—Strachan, one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and one count of lying to a grand jury or court.

Each charge carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and fines ranging from $2,000 for perjury to $10,000 for lying to a grand jury or court.

Sirica scheduled arraignments for March 9, a Saturday, when Mitchell's trial in New York on separate charges stemming from a contribution to President Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign would not be in session.

The indictment charged that the seven defendants made cash payments to the original Watergate defendants "for the purpose of concealing and causing to be concealed the identities of the persons who were responsible for, participated in, and had knowledge of the activities which were the subject of the investigation and trial."

The grand jury alleged that Haldeman lied to the Senate Watergate committee on July 30, 1973, when he said that President Nixon had said it would be wrong to meet demands from the Watergate defendants for $1 million.

The indictment quoted Haldeman's testimony to the committee when he was asked about a meeting in the President's office on the morning of March 21, 1973.

The indictment quoted Haldeman as telling the committee that the President asked former White House counsel John W. Dean III how much money the defendants were demanding and that Dean replied, probably a million dollars.

Haldeman quoted Nixon as replying,

"There is no problem in raising a million dollars. We can do that, but it would be wrong."

The next day Haldeman was asked again if he was positive that the President said it would be wrong to raise the money and he replied, "I am absolutely positive."

The grand jury said Haldeman's statements "were false."

The prosecutors have the White House tape of that meeting.

Dean had told the Senate Watergate committee that he believed that the President was aware of the cover-up before March 21, the date Nixon said he first learned of it.

In addition, Dean testified that on March 21 he told the President everything he knew about Watergate and that after two meetings with Nixon that day he was convinced "that the cover-up as far as the White House was concerned was going to continue."

The conspiracy count against the seven defendants charged that "it was a part of the conspiracy that the conspirators would corruptly influence, obstruct and impede, the due administration of justice."

Among the means the indictment alleged were used to carry out the conspiracy were to "remove, conceal alter and destroy ... documents, papers, records and objects."

"The conspirators would plan, solicit, assist and facilitate the giving of false, deceptive, evasive and misleading statements and testimony ..."

"The conspirators would covertly raise, acquire, transmit, distribute and pay cash funds to and for the benefit of the (seven original Watergate) defendants..."

"The conspirators would make and cause to be made offers of leniency, executive clemency and other benefits to E. Howard Hunt Jr., G. Gordon Liddy, James W. McCord Jr., and Jeb Magruder."

"The conspirators would attempt to obtain CIA financial assistance for persons who are subjects of the investigation."

Predict Nixon Visit To Mideast Later This Year

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — President Nixon will probably visit Egypt and Israel in the second half of this year, authoritative sources said today as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned to the Jewish state to continue his Middle East peace mission.

Kissinger went to Cairo Thursday for restoration of full diplomatic relations between the United States and Egypt, and today he presided with Egyptian Foreign Secretary Ismail Fahmy as the American flag was raised over the U.S. Embassy in Cairo for the first time since relations were broken in 1967.

Sources in the secretary's party said that during the overnight stay in Cairo, tentative plans were made for Nixon to visit the Middle East and for President Anwar Sadat of Egypt to pay a return visit to the United States.

If Nixon went to Egypt, he would be "virtually bound" to visit Israel on the same trip, the officials said.

"I want our Egyptian friends to know that the United States is committed to peace, progress and stability in the Middle East," Kissinger told Fahmy at the flag-raising in Cairo.

He thanked Spanish Ambassador Manuel Alabart for representing the United States in Egypt during the nearly seven years after President Gamal Abdel Nasser broke relations during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Kissinger predicted that "such a period will never happen again."

"The restoration of relations was not merely a move on a diplomatic checkerboard," he continued. "We have begun a lasting friendship."

Kissinger was flying back to Jerusalem today to pick up Israel's proposals for the disengagement of Israeli and Syrian troops on the Golan Heights. He was to take these to the Syrians in Damascus tonight, and he hoped the two governments would start direct negotiations, perhaps in Geneva, to hammer out a troop separation agreement. Kissinger discussed some of Israel's ideas on disengagement Thursday with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, filling him in even before presenting the ideas to President Hafez Assad of Syria. The Cairo newspaper Al Ahras said Sadat immediately dispatched a high-ranking envoy to Damascus.

Election Board Members Fail To Get Pay Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Incoming members of Ohio's county boards of election barely missed getting a pay raise Thursday. Now, they will serve out their four-year terms without one.

"It's too bad," said Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, "the way the prices of things are going up." He said the legislature has not increased board members' pay for six years.

The reason for the Thursday deadline, Brown explained, is that board members appointed by him began their four-year terms today. The Ohio Constitution prohibits them from receiving pay raises during their terms of office.

Brown named two new members—a Republican and a Democrat—in each of Ohio's 88 counties this year. The Brown confirmed that the incoming board members cannot be given an increase, and the incumbents can't either until after their terms end and if they are re-appointed. A resolution on the May primary ballot would equalize the pay of members of public agencies, "but even if it passes, it applies only to elected officials," Brown said.

Election board members are paid on the basis of their county's population, ranging from $1,300 a year in a county of 100,000 or fewer inhabitants up to $9,600 in counties over 300,000. The bill would increase those figures, respectively, to $1,500 and $12,000.

In other floor action, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill clarifying the obligations of beer, wine, and malt liquor manufacturers in their contractual arrangements with distributors.

Senators passed two bills without dissent, including a House proposal permitting Ohio's Vietnam era veterans to opt for double their state bonuses in educational benefits. Veterans eligible for the maximum $500 in cash could change that to $1,000 in tuition and fees under the bill. It now goes back to the House for consideration of minor Senate changes.

Also approved by the Senate was a bill extending the reporting date of the Education Administration Review Committee from next Oct. 15 to Dec. 15. Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, is chairman of the committee, which is studying education administration costs. The House still must approve the reporting delay.

Ten bills were introduced in the two chambers before they adjourned floor sessions until 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. Among them are proposals to:

—Make kidnapping in Ohio punishable by death.

—Require that malt beverages be listed as "malt liquor" on local option election ballots.

—Authorize the director of transportation to assume jurisdiction over the Russell, Ky.-Ironton bridge and free it of tolls.

—Establish a coal miner's pneumoconiosis (black lung) fund.

—Permit embalmers to enucleate eyes for transplanting.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, evidently troubled by uncertainties in the outlook for interest rates, gave more ground today in light trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 8.92 at 851.61, and declining issues outnumbered those advancing by 3 to 2 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said some investors appeared to be worried that recent rapid growth of the nation's money supply might prompt the Federal Reserve Board to revert to a restrictive monetary policy, which would tend to push interest rates up.

Twentieth Century-Fox was among the Big Board volume leaders, rising 1 3/4 to 8 3/8. The company announced a tender offer for two million of its own shares at $8.50 each.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .24 at 97.11.

Food Prices Topic For Rotarians

Wally Barr Jr. was the guest speaker at the annual Rotary Club Rural-Urban Banquet held Thursday at the Methodist Church. Barr and his father, Wally Barr Sr., were guests of Harold Defenbaugh at the meeting.

As a professor of agriculture economics at the Ohio State University, Barr used food prices and policies in '73 as his topic. He pointed out that there was no scapegoat for the high cost of food but all involved were to be blamed including both producers and consumers.

Some of the variables Barr mentioned that add to the higher prices facing the American people today are increased incomes with which the average family buys more food coupled with a very poor harvest year worldwide.

He also explained that over 70 million bushels of soybeans were lost because of bad weather and stated that although more acreage will be planted to feed grains, these acres are less productive and will yield only about 80 per cent as much as our better land. A raise in Social Security and $4 billion allocated in food stamps were also blamed for the increased demand for more foodstuffs. Foreign demand by Russia in 1973 will be replaced by an even greater demand from China in the coming years.

As a final reason for the rising cost of food, Barr said the nitrogen shortage will affect farmers depending on a supply of natural gas which converts to nitrogen.

Thieves Enter Ashville Bar

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn investigated a break-in at the Ashville Bar and Grill, Ashville, Friday.

Reported by Helen Logan, bar maid, the theft occurred sometime between 4:45 a.m. and 5:45 a.m.

According to James L. Gregg, Ashville, owner, the thieves gained entry by pulling open a window in the rear of the building. Missing were rolls of change from the cash register.

Both Coasts Report Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain washed the northern and central Pacific Coast today while scattered showers turned to snow flurries along the same latitudes on the Atlantic Coast.

Many Pacific Coast points received between 1 and 2 inches rain Thursday and more was expected. Coastal gale warnings were in effect south to Santa Barbara, Calif., and at Sacramento winds gusted at more than 30 miles per hour.

Inland, snow fell in the northern Rockies and heavy-snow warnings continued in the northern Sierras.

An inch of snow accumulated in the early morning hours at Klamath Falls, Ore.; Mullan, Idaho and Bradford, Pa.

Light snow in the East stretched from the eastern Great Lakes through the northern Appalachians and to parts of the Atlantic Coast.

Scattered rain showers were expected in the southern Appalachians.

A few patches of clouds interrupted an otherwise fair weather pattern across the remainder of the nation.

Mild temperatures also prevailed for the rest of the country, with warmer readings forecast for the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and portions of the Southwest.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 6 at International Falls, Minn., to 70 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Gilligan Tells Of Tax Bite

STREETSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John Gilligan said Thursday night he paid more state income tax last year than President Nixon paid in federal income taxes.

Gilligan made the remark during one of a series of "Town Hall" meetings he is conducting around the state. The governor said tax revisions under his administration have "relieved the people of Ohio of $400 million in property taxes."

He said the average Ohioan has an income of $10,300 a year and pays "about 54 cents a week net tax increase."

Gilligan said his state pay at $40,000 is four times the average but he pays 16 times as much in income taxes.

He said he paid $855 in state income tax last year, adding:

"I paid more state income tax than President Nixon paid federal income tax."

Improved Gasoline Output Expected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Long lines at gasoline stations will diminish in March as gasoline production increases and distribution becomes more equitable, says John C. Sawhill, deputy federal energy administrator.

"The amount of gasoline going into the allocation system in March will be about the same as in February," Sawhill said at a news conference in Chicago Thursday. "We are going to have lines ... but we expect the lines to be reduced."

Sawhill added that he expects an emergency gasoline allocation to be required at some point in March, similar to a measure the government announced last week.

He said motorist and farmer demands for gasoline will increase as the weather thaws, but added that increased production and adjusted distribution to help areas most in need should cut back on long gas station lines.

He said he thinks gasoline prices will level off at about 55 cents a gallon nationwide.

Sawhill's predictions of shorter lines seemed to be somewhat of a reality in Massachusetts, a statewide survey of stations shows.

Lines were down and stations were pumping gas for longer hours each day.

USDA Data Shows Wheat To Be Short

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio bakers said Thursday that U.S. Agriculture Department figures indicate the nation may be without wheat for four weeks this spring.

Two officials of the Ohio Bakers Association said figures from the USDA Statistical Reporter Service show a 900,000 bushel deficit in wheat supplies at the end of the crop year.

They said the figures contradict Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who said Wednesday in Columbus there will be a 170 million bushel surplus when the new crop is harvested in June.

The OBA officials—William H. O'Neill, executive director, and Frank H. Otway, a board member—called the news conference Thursday to answer Butz' claim.

O'Neill said USDA figures show 1.37 billion bushels of wheat exported in the current crop year with a resultant deficit of 900,000 bushels.

He said the trend started with Soviet wheat purchases of more than 400 million bushels in 1972.

"The Russian sale by itself was not large enough to create a wheat shortage," the OBA said. "But it set off a chain reaction around the world, generating orders from many nations seeking available wheat."

The bakers said carryover surplus from one crop year to the next dropped from 863 million bushels in 1971-72 to 438 million bushels last year.

"Exports continued at a record pace into the current crop year," the OBA said. "As a result, our seemingly inexhaustible store of wheat vanished in just 18 months."

as motorists grow accustomed to the third week of a voluntary rationing plan.

In other gasoline developments:

—Rhode Island begins operating under a voluntary odd-even license plate gas sale program today. But Gov. Philip Noel noted Thursday he has emergency powers to make the allocation program mandatory if the voluntary system is not successful.

—In Washington, the American Petroleum Institute reported Thursday imports of crude oil increased markedly last week, while imports of refined products slumped.

Taken together, the industry organization said, the figures showed that total petroleum imports increased by 7.8 per cent to approximately 4.9 million barrels a day — about the predicted level under the Arab boycott.

Murder Trial Ranks As First Criminal Case Heard In County

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

The first criminal case ever heard in Pickaway County was a murder case in which John Bennett was charged with the killing of Reuben Cherry. Bennett was arraigned in one of the very first sessions of court in the county.

In the formation of the county from three existing counties, Fairfield, Ross and Franklin, Pickaway County was carved from a section of land occupied by Shawnee Indians and referred to as the Pickaway Plains. Only one township, Salt Creek, was taken from Fairfield County, and the remainder of the new county was taken from the other two contributing counties.

The formation of the new county was ordered by the Ohio General Assembly on Jan. 12, 1810. Pickaway was adopted for the name of the county because it was the name of a numerous family of the Shawnee tribe who were living on the Pickaway Plains when the white men first arrived in the area.

The first courts in the area were held in the home of Henry Nevill in Jefferson until the county seat was named. He was paid $60 per year for the rent of the space used for the courtroom and another $25 for one room which was used as the jail.

At the first county election held in this home, James Renick became sheriff; David Kinnear, Peter Apple and Jonathan Holmes, commissioners and John McNeal, Coroner. There is no record of the number of votes cast in this early election. Henry Nevill was appointed county treasurer.

When the county seat was located at Circleville, the upper part of the Jacob Zeiger Jr. house was rented for the use as a courthouse. The rent for the second story of the log structure located on the corner of Scioto and Pinckney streets was $1 per year.

It was in this house that John Bennett was arraigned for the first degree murder charge of Reuben Cherry. Bennett pleaded not guilty to the charge in a special session of court on April 7, 1810. His bail was set at $200.

The first session of the court of common pleas held in the county was conducted the following July of the same year and at this time Bennett was brought to trial. The jury feeling that he had not premeditated the killing before committing it, found him not guilty of murder but guilty of manslaughter. He was fined $200 and sentenced to eight days in jail. He was also ordered to pay the costs of prosecution.

At this first term of the common pleas court, the first grand jury was selected on July 23, 1810, with David Shelby as foreman. During their session, the 16-member jury licensed the first tavern on July 24, located in Tarlton. On July 25, they appointed James Denny as the first clerk of courts for a term of seven years and David Dreisbach director. It was on the 26th of July that Bennett was convicted.

Three associate justices, William Seymour, Thomas Barr and Jacob Shoemaker, conducted the special sessions of court held prior to the first authorized session of the common pleas court. For that session, the circuit judge, John Thompson, sat on the bench with the three associate justices.

Other business which was completed during the year of 1810 included the appointment of justices of the peace for the nine townships in the newly carved county. A total of 21 were appointed and designated in the townships.

First holders of county offices were James Denny, clerk of courts; Richard Douglas, prosecuting attorney; David Kinnear, surveyor and later county auditor; John McNeal, coroner; William H. Puthuff, recorder; Henry Nevill, treasurer; James Renick, sheriff. The first senator elected from Pickaway County was David Shelby. Richard Douglas and John Emmett were the first representatives to Congress.

Wages for early office holders were not quite as reasonable as the $1 a year rent for the upper story of the Zeiger house. Prosecuting attorney Douglas was allocated $40 quarterly for his services. The sheriff's wages were $60 quarterly and the clerk of court was given $12 from the collectable court costs.

Settlement of estates, issuing of marriage licenses and other business which is now part of the probate courts, were carried out in the county common pleas court until 1851. Court sessions continued to be held in the Zeigler house until the construction of the first court house in 1814.

Much of the concise history of the area and its prominent people is contained in the History of Pickaway County by Aaron R. Van Cleaf, published in 1906. Reproductions of this volume were published by the Pickaway County Historical Society last year and sold because the original volumes were so rare. The society is currently readying the Williams Brothers History of Franklin and Pickaway Counties publication. A spokesman for the group stated the reproduction volumes should be ready for sale by mid-summer.

Deficit Retirement

Social Security taxes and benefits up to now have been almost devoid of criticism or any logical growth planning. Frequent changes to the basic concept of Social Security in the last decade have created a kind of runaway monster which Congress so far has refused to stop.

Social Security has been politicized. Every two years as regularly as clockwork the benefits are increased. Taxes also are increased periodically, though more slowly than the payout. A few basic growth statistics tell the story.

In the last seven years, the cost of living has increased by 38 per cent, but the average Social Security payout has advanced 85 per cent. From 1950 to the present, the number of beneficiaries has increased ten-fold, but the dollar benefits have multiplied 73 times.

Workers retiring now who paid in the maximum all their working years stand to gain up to 10 times as much as they paid into the program. There is no mystery about how this is accomplished. The difference is paid through general taxation.

Ahead is more of the same. Changes enacted in 1972 to take effect at the beginning of 1975, gear Social Security payments to increases in the consumer price index. Taxes to compensate will increase along with the average wage level. If inflation continues strong, a cycle of Social Security increases, wage hikes and higher prices could develop.

What began as only a supplemental retirement income fund in 1937 has outgrown its bristles. Its growth rate already has placed it in the category of collector of the largest tax bill from a number of lower wage earners. Unless it is held to a better balance, the retirement pot at the end of the rainbow could develop a bad case of tarnish.

Flying Nuns And Sky Pilots

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—The world seems so oppressively vile . . . and then you run into a fellow like George Haddaway, and you want to give it one more chance. He's the publisher of "Flight" magazine.

Ten years ago I wrote a piece about him that went like this:

"Hyenas have joined the Soviets in attacking Christianity. The wild animals attack and eat the fabric of the little Piper Cub owned by the St. Patrick's Missionary Society and the Medical Missionaries of Mary. The plane is the missionaries' main hope of tending their desperately stricken flock of 15,000 scattered Trukhana Desert nomads in Northwest Kenya. 'The Cub now has more patches than a bum's pants. It suffered further woe recently when, with Father Ryan at the controls, it pranged a banana orchard.'

"These intrepid souls need a new plane, one big enough to carry food and medicine to destitute and roadless regions, powerful enough to take off from make shift strips with sick tribespeople in need of hospital care, and simple enough to be flown by the priests and nuns concerned. Their 'parish' measures 30,000 miles.

"A good Protestant friend of theirs, George E. Haddaway, publisher of Flight magazine, has broken a company rule by appealing to private plane owners among his readers to chip in, tax deductible enough to buy the missionaries one of Cessna's new Super Skywagons (Hyena proof, because it has a metal skin). The cost of a good bush pilot to instruct these great people in the use and maintenance of the single-engined plane is included in the funds drive.

"If you want to be part of it, the address is St. Patrick's Missionary Society, c/o Bill Edwards or Joe Fabick, 2319 Hampton, St. Louis, Mo., 63139. The missionaries will put a word in for you each night. Reception is said to be very good from Kenya."

Well, George came through town the other day with the inspiring news that the "Wings of Hope" air force now numbers 26 planes and they are spread around many underdeveloped countries. Their pilots are nuns of the remarkable Medical Missionaries of Mary, brothers and priests of St. Patrick's Missionary Society, and hard bush pilots.

Here's an excerpt from one of the missionary pilot's messages from darkest Guatemala:

"Had a pleasant experience Tuesday. A normal plane load . . . the Ixcan consists of one family. Usually about 300-400 pounds of luggage (all their worldly possessions), and four to six people (including babies). When it is all in, the people wind up with standing or stooping room only. On one flight this day, there was this cute, quiet little four-year-old boy, sandwiched in between all these adults, looking very uncomfortable. I pulled him out and set him in my lap, and let him have half of the control wheel. He really thought this was great . . . for about five minutes. Then he fell asleep. So I just left him sleep there until we were ready for landing. Then he had to go back into the crowd.

"Also Tuesday, I took a little sick boy about two years old from Dolores to Quiche. He must have been pretty sick because he was completely limp and cried the whole trip in. Unfortunately, he died Thursday. He had spinal meningitis, and it was too late to help him.

"Wednesday, I took four sick people to Quiche on one flight. They just seemed to pop out of nowhere that one flight. I had taken a new family into Xalbal and was going to take coffee to Hue Hue Tanango on the return trip, when a mother and father came up with their son, who had cut himself in a very unmentionable place. It looked kind of bad, so I took the boy and took off for Buenos Aires (a Guatemalan town, of course, not the Argentine capital), a 3-minute flight, where there was one person waiting to go to Quiche. Besides this one passenger, there were three other people who had suddenly turned up with medical problems. One boy, about three years old, had deformed feet from birth. His parents wanted to take him to a specialist in Guatemala City. A girl, about five years old, was suddenly losing her hearing. Her parents were likewise taking her to a specialist. And, a woman about 30 years old was suddenly losing weight rapidly, and the use of one of her legs. She certainly wouldn't have been able to walk out of the Ixcan on foot. Nor would the little boy have been able to survive the two week trip on the trails."

Haddaway has practically made this sort of thing his life's work. He taps plane owners and non-plane owners alike, to provide tax-free gifts with which to buy the more than two dozen additional planes he has been requested to supply to a wanting world. He says:

"Would you believe a Skywagon operating in East African deserts can compress a year's grueling land travel into two or three weeks of flying time? "Or that deep in the Amazon jungle of South America a Cessna 206 on floats can carry a native just bitten by a deadly bushmaster snake to a well-staffed hospital in less than an hour while the same trip by boat would take more than two days?"

"Or that an American-made light twin taking off in the mountain vastness of New Guinea at a 10,000-foot elevation can fly a woman dying in childbirth to a seashore village hospital in 20 minutes and save her life because the only other method of transport would be by mule or Land Rover bouncing over 18 hours on mountain trails?"

"Flying accomplishments such as these are easily understood by airmen but what grabs even the most seasoned of aviation folk is the tremendous number of these documented human dramas being enacted daily all over the world by flying missionaries in modern general aviation airplanes, most of which are made in America."

So, cheer up. There are still some good people around.

Court Backs Drug Search

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A federal appeals court today ruled a Butler County judge had sufficient cause to issue a search warrant that resulted in the seizure of 36,650 barbituates and the indictment of a Milford man.

The ruling by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed an earlier ruling in U.S. District Court here. The district court was ordered to implement today's decision.

The suit was filed by Norman Olt of Milford Township.

Butler County Common Pleas Judge Robert Marrs issued a warrant to search Olt's apartment and the apartment next door, according to court record.

He issued the search warrant on the basis of an affidavit submitted by a special police agent who cited testimony obtained from another resident of Olt's apartment complex.

Olt was indicted by a federal grand jury after the search.

Old Railroad Coach Returned In Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A railroad car once occupied by actor Sterling Hayden has been returned to his daughter by a federal court.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles B. Renfrew ordered the car returned to Gretchen Hayden after government attorneys said Tuesday the car "is not worth enough to fight about."

The Internal Revenue Service seized the car in September 1972 to satisfy part of a $42,480 tax claim against Hayden.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Small strokes are being carefully studied by physicians in order to avoid their recurrence.

Many times people complain that they have had a transient loss of memory or an inability to speak properly, or the loss of control of coordinated movement. The cause may be one of many. Yet the basic reason is that there is a temporary inadequate flow of blood to the brain.

Small strokes, if carefully studied, may prevent large, more serious, and incapacitating strokes.

Small strokes are sometimes referred to as "transient ischemic attacks" (TIA). These may be caused by excess tobacco, emotional stress, obesity, gout, diabetes, high blood pressure, vascular disturbances, arteriosclerosis and high cholesterol.

When a TIA occurs, its cause must be found and eliminated, if the proneness to strokes is to be minimized.

Doctors particularly interested in these conditions emphasize that major strokes can be reduced in frequency and in severity if the reasons for minor strokes are actively pursued.

Because TIA's are transient and often disappear without treatment there is a tendency for many people to avoid reporting their symptoms to their doctors.

In fact, some people forget even having had such an experience and they do not include it in the medical history they give to their doctors.

Hypnosis is a highly technical skill and medical modality that has been officially recognized by the American Medical Association for more than 20 years.

It is used by trained specialists who are interested in the diagnosis, the control and the cure of many emotional problems.

It is being used more and more to control obesity, smoking problems, compulsive gambling and insomnia.

Hypnosis as an adjunct to anesthesia, and for the control of some types of excruciating pain, has been remarkably effective.

The Morton Prince Clinic for Hypnototherapy in New York City is staffed by a large group of psychologists, psychiatrists, physicians and dentists. They use hypnosis as an additional tool in the course of treatment.

Dr. Milton Kline, director of the Morton Prince Clinic, says, "Hypnosis is not a parlor game to be played by glib entertainers. It is a serious, scientific form of therapy that has opened new horizons for more rapid and successful treatment."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We are writing to comment on a situation that is developing in the Ohio House of Representatives. At this time there is Resolution 44 being considered by the House Judiciary Committee. Resolution 44 is to amend Section 4 of Article I of the Ohio Constitution. This constitutional amendment would prohibit the manufacture, sale, use or possession of handguns in the state.

In our opinion, any type of law banning the use and possession of handguns will only affect the good law-abiding citizens. Lawbreakers will not give up the handguns they now possess, and will acquire additional weapons through illegal channels. This will only serve to disarm the law-abiding citizens.

If the lawbreakers are unable to obtain handguns, they will not hesitate to cut down a rifle or shotgun, even though there are state and federal laws prohibiting such action.

Banning handguns will not stop crimes of passion. A person determined to kill another will use any method at hand, be it a handgun, long gun, knife, ax, club or motor vehicle.

Unfortunately, it is not feasible to supply every person with 100 per cent police protection. Therefore, every person must supply himself with a certain amount of self-protection. For homeowners with small children the handgun is a much safer weapon for household protection. A handgun can be kept loaded and out of reach of small children much easier than a long gun.

Many law-abiding citizens derive much relaxation, recreation, and pleasure from collecting, shooting and hunting with a handgun. These people should not be penalized for the wrong doings of others.

It is our opinion that the only way to combat the rising crime rate is not by taking the handguns from the law-abiding public, but by administering fair and swift justice to the lawbreakers. We feel there is a real need for a law that imposes a severe prison sentence for anyone committing a criminal act while having in their possession or under their control, a firearm. This sentence would be imposed in addition to the sentence for the crime committed. The sentence for possession of a firearm while committing a criminal act should be of a non-probational, non-parole, and non-plea bargaining nature in itself.

The only way to combat the proposed legislation is for each concerned individual to contact his legislators and voice his opinion.

We pray that the legislators of this State and Nation realize that the key to crime control is not taking away the liberties of the many for the crimes of a few.

Kurfess Believes Speed Law Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— House Minority Leader Charles Kurfess says the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit bill passed by the Legislature Wednesday may be unconstitutional.

Kurfess said he believes the bill, which the governor is expected to sign before Saturday, "raises grave constitutional doubts," because he believes truckers could face double jeopardy on speeding charges.

Under the bill, 55 miles per hour on expressways is the absolute speed limit for both cars and trucks.

The driver of a car going faster faces a $50 fine, but no points on his driver's license.

But, according to Kurfess, truckers going over 55 miles per hour could be charged under both the new law and the old one, which will remain on the books. The latter carries a two-point penalty.

"There is a constitutional prohibition against someone being held in jeopardy for the same offense," Kurfess said.

William Chavanne, a spokesman for Gov. John Gilligan's office, said, "The governor will sign the bill. We see no constitutional question involved."

Under federal law, Ohio must have a 55 miles-per-hour speed limit by Sunday or lose $160 million annually in federal highway funds.

The bill is a temporary energy conservation measure and self destructs June 30, 1975.

The bill was deadlocked in the Senate for more than a day, because of inequity in penalties for truckers and auto drivers. The version which finally was passed and sent to the governor was a Senate-amended compromise.

Sponsors of the bill deny the possibility that a trucker could face double jeopardy.

A trucker could plead guilty to the absolute violation, getting the same fine given a motorist and avoiding the two-point penalty slonsors of the bill explained. A trucker then couldn't be tried on the second violation, they said.

The two points for a moving violation could still be given to either the auto driver or trucker doing more than 70 miles per hour.

Sen. Walter White, R-12 Lima, the Senate sponsor of the bill, said he doesn't object to the new approach.

"It does satisfy a great many individuals who feel that cars and trucks should be treated similarly," he added.

"Hopefully, they know what they passed," Rep. Robert W. Jaskulski, D-11 Garfield Heights, said.

"I think there is still a constitutional question involved. There should have been more thought given to it," he said.

Rep. George D. Pablak, D-52 Campbell, one of the 17 representatives who voted against the measure, said he opposes the bill because "I think it's a big dam farce. If I could vote no a thousand times, I would vote no."

True U.S. Minority

By JIM BISHOP

The American Indians have been fighting for "peace with honor" for 350 years, longer by centuries than any of man's conflicts. From the Mohawks and Onondages in the North to the Seminole nation in the South; from the Cherokees of North Carolina to the Hupas of California, their braves have died valiantly. And lost.

They, who once settled this great land, are humiliated outcasts. Indians are now the minority of all minorities. They turn their backs on 188,000,000 Caucasians and 23,000,000 blacks. None of the tribes speak of treaties because they have desks full of dishonored documents.

Long ago, they were beaten in battle by superior guns and manpower. Once they numbered in the scores of millions: the head count is now 800,000. The white man put them on reservations — open air prisons. Some lived under the laws of tribal councils; others were under the thumbs of Indian agents. Over all, the Great White Father turned out to be, not a gallant and honorable statesman, but a despotic unit called the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

In 1873, the U.S. Army adopted a credo: "The only good Indian is a dead Indian." In the name of law and order, Army repeating rifles converted a lot of bad Indians into good ones. At the turn of the century, the Army had their numbers down to 237,196.

A great and sad book has been written about the massacre at Wounded Knee, South Dakota. Colonel J.W. Forsyth surrounded a band of Sioux. He marched them to Wounded Knee. They were docile because they were outnumbered, outgunned and a promise was made that they could keep their pride.

On December 29, 1890, they stood in freezing rows against the icy wind. Forsyth ordered all Indians disarmed. They protested that they needed their guns to hunt. Forsyth's men disarmed some. A rifle was fired. Then another. The U.S. Army did its duty. It slew 200 men, women and children. The dead Sioux took 29 soldiers with them.

Later, the tribes became burned out. The young rebels wanted to be assimilated by the whites. The school system taught them that the white man prevails. Old men turned in contempt from sons and daughters.

The young were not absorbed. They could become mechanics, farm helpers, even cowboys. Brutal power crushed the pride of the elders. They crouched before the bare huts, leather images who were goaded into stringing beads and whittling souvenirs for white tourists who called them "quaint."

Most of all, like the blacks, they began to despise themselves. A few made suicide gestures for television. They captured the empty Alcatraz prison; they stole their cells. Others staged a TV sit-in at Wounded Knee.

For the great White Father, it was an irritant. The government yawned when braves stormed the Bureau of Indian Affairs, wrecking furniture and throwing files out the windows. Unlike the blacks, the Indians had no champions. Unlike the Jews in Russia, no one here clamored to free the Indians.

Last year a new generation of braves and squaws decided to return to the spiritual values and customs of their gallant forebears. They became true Indians again. The movement was slow at first, then gathered momentum. Some denounced the 1968 Indian legislation which decreed that the tribes must conform to the laws of the U.S. Constitution.

They demanded rights of tribal council and tribal laws. Boys arrived in white-financed schools wearing sweatshirts which proclaimed "Indian and Proud." A head count proved that 7,000 Indians were attending college. Among 800,000, it isn't much, but it is a beginning and some have become lawyers who have learned how to fight in court.

A century before Adolf Hitler came to power, America the righteous tried genocide. It almost worked. Quietly, the Nixon administration has tried to scrub the stain from the pristine walls of the White House. In New Mexico and Alaska, land has been restored to Indians.

The Congress of the U.S. has always been anti-Indian. The Congressmen and Senators have voted down almost every measure which would honor old broken treaties.

It is time for the President to appoint

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — To John Flynn, who does a booming business in precious metal coins here, there is something quite different about the latest gold rush.

Rather than greed, it seems to indicate great fear and distrust. And judging by the crowds that daily jam their way into his shop, the gold craze has affected a wider spectrum of society than might be realized.

One man explained it succinctly. "You're a bit young and you don't remember it but I do," he said to the salesman as he prepared to buy some gold coins. "I lived through the 1920s." That was the boom that led to the bust.

"People of not very great means are worrying about their bank savings," said Flynn. "They're worried about inflation. Many of them are withdrawing their savings and buying gold coins."

If this is so it hasn't yet made any impression in the statistics. Money continues to pour into savings accounts and the widely held view is that the savings rate will rise through much of the year.

But many thousands of Americans, some of whom would feel mortified if called speculators, are buying up gold coins and probably would be hoarding gold bullion too if they were permitted by law.

"Individuals who have been buying coins lately seem to be holding them for the longer term," Flynn said. "They're just not cashing in. There is no question in my mind that they fear paper money and continued inflation."

At midweek the price of gold at the big London market was $169.50 a troy ounce, after having been more than $10 higher a few days earlier. But six years ago the price was only $35, and last year between $80 and $100.

At the Perera Fifth Avenue outlet, which Flynn operates as part of the international DeakPerera Group of coin and foreign exchange dealers, customers were paying $365 for a U.S. $20 double eagle coin. A year ago the price was $185.

The big jump was, of course, based on the higher price of gold bullion. But why should a Double Eagle, containing 0.968 troy ounces of gold, sell at such a huge premium?

The situation is indeed a curious one. Silver coins, in contrast, sell for very close to the value of their silver content. But gold coins are sold at premiums of 25 per cent to 120 per cent over their gold content.

Dealers say the cost of minting adds 10 per cent to the price, and the mint's markup another 5 per cent. The remainder is said to be accounted for by transportation and broker markup.

But a good deal of that price results from the traffic. Some coins are "in," some hard to find, others quite beautiful, and many — for various reasons — are of limited availability. Demand, in other words, exceeds supply.

Rail Service Hearing Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan and U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, are expected to be leadoff witnesses Monday at a public hearing on railroad reorganization.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hearing will deal with railroad freight and passenger service in the Northeast and Midwest.

The ICC is holding hearings in about 20 states on a new law allowing reorganization of rail service from Maine to Illinois.

The law, which took effect in January, creates a U.S. Railway Association to plan railroad reorganization in the region. It also creates the Consolidated Rail Corp. to operate the service.

Hearings will last a week, with testimony taken in the evenings and on Saturday, if necessary, according to Jerry Lear, public counsel for the hearing.

'Community Involvements' Program For Secretaries

Mrs. Jean Ankron was guest speaker for the February meeting of Roundtown Chapter National Secretaries Assn. at Tink's. For NSA's 12th annual February program of the year, members focused on the theme "Horizons For Involvement" reflecting their thousands of aggregate voluntary hours on behalf of local community activities.

Mrs. Ankron, manager of the Circleville area Chamber of Commerce, used as her subject "Specific Commitments For Community Involvement." She specifically emphasized that we, as residents of Circleville are most fortunate as we have many opportunities which many other communities do not have.

Our industrial area has continued to grow, we have many fine businesses and our rural area has definitely made this an enviable community. Mrs. Ankron said when attending Chamber of Commerce meetings in other areas she is always reminded by people there of our many resources.

She also said it is a responsibility of each one to become involved when comments are made and repeated about the community. We should not rely on information we hear as being true facts, rather as concerned citizens we must sort out truth and decide what is right from wrong and then work toward the goal of bringing about the right decisions and facts for the community as a whole.

Peggy A. Creighton, NSA's international president, in referring to the association's program of the year said: "The beneficial improvement of conditions for humanity is a never-ending universal quest. As good citizens, hard-working secretaries have generously given of their time and energy to respond to calls for help from educational, cultural, health and social service groups. Secretaries' attributes for organization, systematization, office skills and reliability make them among the most sought after voluntary resource bank. Taking an active participant role, secretaries believe that service is the rent we pay for the space we occupy in the community."

During the business session, Connie McGlone, chairman of Secretaries Week, discussed plans for the observance from April 21 through 27.

The following committees were appointed by Freda Collins, president: Scholarship-June West, chairman, Dorothy Ann Evans and Joy Slone; Nominating-Helen Burns, chairman; Tressie Chambers, Bev Bower and Dorothy Franklin, alternate.

Upset Over Advice

DEAR ABBY: Although you are paid well for giving advice to others, I feel many times your advice is immature and meaningless. A woman writes that she lost her cherished letters and photo albums in a flood, and she asked your advice on how to get over it.

Your reply was asinine! You compared her loss to the death of your own parents. Has it ever occurred to you that she, too, might have lost her mother and father, or others dear to her, but their memories had been kept alive by those precious photographs?

Sometimes I think you are absolutely without heart or feeling.

Disgusted in ARCADIA
DEAR DISGUSTED: I know that I am not "absolutely without heart" because mine ached a little when I read your letter. But another reader expressed a quite different reaction to the same letter. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: How wise and timely (to me) was your reply to the lady who had lost her precious collection of pictures and letters she had saved over the years.

Several years ago, in moving, I lost many irreplaceable possessions just as that lady did, and I, too, was heartsick for a long while.

In January of 1973, my beloved daughter and adored grandsons (aged 4 and 9) were murdered in a senseless tragedy of mass murders here in Santa Cruz, Cal.

Now I know what heartbreak truly is. There is not a day or night that I do not sense my gentle ones' arms around me. I know that life will never be the same for me without them, but I keep trying to have faith.

I am blessed that my little mother,

Mrs. Smith Put Her Finger On It

PHOENIX (AP) — Benjamin Smith, 22, was in U.S. District Court on an auto theft charge.

Asked by U.S. District Court Judge Walter Craig when he found out the 1972-model truck he had purchased for $50 had been stolen, Smith hesitated.

"I guess it was when my wife asked me where the papers on it were," Smith said.

"Well, Mr. Smith, didn't you think something was wrong? Didn't something light up when you were offered a 1972 truck for $50? the judge asked.

"Yeah, I thought I was getting a good deal," Smith said.

Craig accepted his guilty plea.

City Board Adopts New Policy For Outside Learning Activities

The Circleville Board of Education adopted a policy regarding outside learning activities for students at the regular monthly meeting Thursday. Students who can show they can utilize their out of class time more efficiently than in the school building will now be allowed to do so.

Students are scheduled into "other guided learning experiences". These experiences include educationally related uses of pupil time designed to supplement the graded courses of study which are planned by the pupil and his parents with the school personnel. The principal's approval in keeping with the district rules and regulations will be necessary for any such experiences.

Schedules providing the other learning experiences shall include employment, independent study or volunteer work. A full-time pupil, enrolled for a minimum of four units of credit plus physical education, can schedule under the new policy with the signature of the parent or guardian. The experience undertaken shall become a part of the student's permanent record.

Employment approvable under the policy will be related to the needs of the pupil and his in-school objectives. Independent study means study which takes place in a community center laboratory, library, museum, university or a similar location. Individual or group projects not considered to be regular homework would be in compliance. Volunteer work in conjunction with such facilities as a community service agency, laboratory, library, museum or university is also approvable.

One regulation adopted by the board concerning the new policy is that if the student fails to perform the experience in full accord with the terms of the application, he must return to school for in-school assignment. Regular evaluation reports must be submitted by the employer or supervisor on forms provided by the school.

Transportation shall be the responsibility of the student.

The board accepted the resignation of Kathryn Bitler, effective March 8. Mrs. Bitler is a teacher at the Mound Street Elementary school. Accepted for employment in the position left open was Cheryl E. Wilcox. She holds a bachelor of science degree from Bloomsburg State in Pennsylvania and has one year's experience.

Mrs. Susie Cooley was accepted for employment as a substitute teacher in the elementary schools. She has done substitute work in the district previously.

Bus driver Bruce Liston submitted his resignation to the board due to increased farming responsibilities. The board accepted the resignation and hired Clarence Happeney to replace him effective March 1. Happeney has no experience but has completed the required training. Mary Kathryn Dayhoff was approved for substitute work as a bus driver also effective March 1.

Fourteen staff personnel were approved for attendance to professional meetings. Most of the approved meetings will be held in Columbus during March and April.

Approval was granted by board action for senior Kathleen Ann Latimer to continue as a tuition student at Circleville High School effective Feb. 1. The parents of the student have moved to Lancaster, Pa., and guardians have been approved for the remainder of the school year. Board policy provides that if parents move during the last six weeks period, no tuition is required for the student to remain at the school.

The balance of $3,202.50 was approved for payment to Denver Greenlee. The amount due was the balance for musical instruments purchased in 1971 for a six-year period of payment with no interest charged. Since the funds are available at this time, the board agreed to pay Greenlee the balance due over the next three years.

An increase in the price of potato chips on the a la carte menu at the high school was approved. The increase from ten cents to 15 cents was due to an increase in the price from the supplier.

Two students were added to the list approved for tutoring as needed and advised by the school psychologist. This type tutoring is designed for students with learning disabilities and allows a maximum of one hour special tutoring during the school day.

Harder and Reed Architects were employed to develop plans and specifications and necessary legal advertising for tennis courts at the high school and South Court Street elementary.

Approval was granted by the board for Cynthia's School of Dancing to use the junior high school auditorium on May 31 and June 1 for rehearsal and recital. The charge for the use of the facility was determined to be $50 and the board will not bear any of the responsibility for injuries. The school of dancing falls into the category of commercial enterprise and under the special conditions that were approved by the policy of the board.

The date of April 17 was approved as kindergarten registration date and the date of the April board meeting was changed to the fourth Monday instead of the regular fourth Thursday.

A letter from Roger Bennington, attorney hired by the board to do the title search for the Wayne Township Building, was read to the board. The attorney reported that although the original time specification for completion of the work was 30 days, he had gotten into some problems since the deed goes back to 1818 and the facts are somewhat varied concerning the early acreage specifications. The building was transferred from the Wayne Township District to the city district in 1958.

Decorative draperies were approved for purchase for the junior high school

New Kinds Of Wheat Seen With High Protein Values

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today it may be possible to breed new kinds of wheat containing much higher amounts of protein than now found in bread grain.

The department said scientists based at the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station at Lincoln have been experimenting with three lines of wheat called Atlas 66, Nap Hal and CI13449.

"Used in breeding programs, these lines are capable of increasing both content and quality of plant protein at a time when world needs have closed the gap between supply and demand," the department said in the March issue of Agricultural Research.

The studies have shown that differences in the genetic makeup of the three wheat lines often result in higher protein and lysine content when crossed with other kinds. Lysine is an amino acid, a building block of protein.

"This fact holds special promise for the western part of the High Plains production area where protein levels have gradually declined to a point where some wheat is not satisfactory for flour," the report said.

Further, it said, the quality of protein in wheat has been limited by its naturally short supply of lysine.

Tests have shown the protein content of two of the parent lines, Atlas 66 and Nap Hal, exceeded 20 per cent. Standard hard red winter wheat currently averages about 12 per cent. The third, CI13449, was favored in the experiments for its high lysine content.

Medicare Enrollment Open Through April 1

People who haven't signed up for Medicare medical insurance or who have canceled the protection once can enroll now through April 1 at any Social Security Office, according to Harry B. Bieber, Social Security District Manager in Chillicothe.

The medical insurance part of Medicare is offered automatically to people who reach 65 and are eligible for social security benefits—and to disabled workers under 65 who have been entitled to monthly social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more.

"Nine out of 10 people eligible are enrolled in the medical insurance program," Bieber said. "Some people, however, decline the protection when they're first eligible, and some sign up once and cancel later. They can enroll in the first three months of any year."

The Medicare enrollment period extends through April 1 this year because March 31 falls on Sunday. The medical insurance helps pay doctor bills and other medical expenses and is the voluntary part of Medicare, funded by individual premiums and Federal general revenues. The basic premium is now $6.30 a month and will go to $6.70 a month starting July 1.

"If you decline the medical insurance and delay signing up for more than a year, you pay a higher premium," Bieber noted. "If you sign up and cancel later, you can re-enroll only once."

The medical insurance supplements Medicare hospital insurance, which is funded by social security contributions from workers and employers.

People 65 and over who aren't eligible for social security benefits can apply at any social security office and get Medicare hospital insurance by paying a premium. The basic premium is now $33 a month and will go to $36 a month starting July 1. They must also sign up for the medical insurance.

People who have worked long enough under social security can apply at any age and get Medicare hospital and medical insurance if they—or members of their family—have chronic kidney disease and need a kidney transplant or dialysis.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Chillicothe Social Security Office is at 606 Central Center. The phone number is 775-4950.

March Is Red Cross Month

March is Red Cross Month, a time for enrolling new members, publicizing services and activities of the American Red Cross and raising funds.

The Pickaway County Red Cross is an agency of the Community Fund and does not solicit funds this month. However, all who gave one dollar or more to Red Cross through Community Fund may receive a membership card on request from the chapter.

C. P. Pfeiffer, chapter chairman, announced the Pickaway County Chapter will utilize the month of March as a time to express appreciation to all who have contributed to the success of programs during 1973.

PRAYER IS A PARTY LINE

The man who prays can hear the prayers of others . . . especially when he prays for those human needs which are common to all men.

But even when he prays for needs that are solely his own, he knows that those who care for him are joining their prayers with his.

And God's answers come back along the party line.

You're never quite sure the message was meant for you. You are tempted sometimes to think it was intended for someone else . . . until you realize that this answer which God has inspired in your heart does fit your prayer.

There are times when it's good for everybody on the party line to pick up the phone at once . . . and speak what they all feel . . . and listen to what they all need to hear.

That happens regularly on Sunday morning.

British People Go To Polls; No Clear Outcome Forecast

LONDON (AP) — Britons voted for a new government today as snow fell in several parts of the country and the sun shone in southeast England.

Some cities reported long lines at the polling booths and there were indications of a massive turnout, usually a good sign for the Laborites. Polls still gave the Conservatives a slight edge, however.

In England, the election is being fought largely over bread-and-butter issues, and observers say that no matter who wins, Britons face another round of belt-tightening.

In Northern Ireland, the election for members to Parliament is being fought over the determination of the Protestant majority to stay apart from the neighboring Irish republic, while the minority Catholics seek union.

Rioters hijacked trucks and cars in Londonderry and set up barricades today in the streets. In Belfast, troops fired rubber bullets to disperse stone-throwing crowds.

Earlier, at least six persons were wounded in terrorist bombing and shooting in the province.

Last-minute opinion polls gave Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservatives a narrow lead over Harold Wilson's Laborites. The Liberals headed by Jeremy Thorpe were running three times better than they did before the last election, in 1970. But four out of five of the main polls predicted a Labor victory then, and the Conservatives won.

Heath called the election three weeks ago after months of industrial unrest and inflation culminated in a national coal strike. Much of business and industry has been on a three-day work week since Christmas to conserve electric power. Industrial production is falling, promising to increase an already staggering trade deficit. Coal stocks at the power stations will reach the danger point in a few weeks. And 8 per cent or more of the nation's workers are temporarily or permanently unemployed.

With food prices up 53 per cent since Heath took office, the country is spending nearly $8.8 billion more abroad than it earns. And with the oil bill rising steadily, campaigners have warned that the toughest austerity since the years of World War II lies ahead.

Heath has stressed "firm and fair government" with strict control of the unions and warned against Labor plans to nationalize many industries.

Wilson called for a soak-the-rich tax policy, food subsidies, price controls, a gentlemen's agreement with the unions to curb wage rises and negotiation of more favorable terms with the Common Market.

Thorpe and the Liberals painted both the other parties as extremists and called for a policy of moderation in everything from Common Market relations to industrial relations.

Marathon Ups Price For Gas, Fuel

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Marathon Oil Co. increased its gasoline prices to dealers by 8.4 cents per gallon today, blaming increased costs of foreign crude oil.

A company spokesman said the price of fuel oil also went up 2.7 cents per gallon.

Marathon pump prices for gasoline will climb 10 cents per gallon to 55.9 cents for regular and 65.4 cents for high test at most stations, officials said.

"Despite the increase in prices at the retail and wholesale levels Marathon's per gallon profit margin in its U.S. refining and marketing operation will remain unchanged," the spokesman, Michael D. Russo, said.

He said the price increase would bring Marathon's prices in line with other petroleum companies.

Marathon Oil Co., headquartered here, controls almost 10 per cent of Ohio's gasoline market through outlets operated by independent dealers.

Marathon also has marketing operations in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Kentucky.

William Clive's "Tune That They Play" tells of six British infantry companies who face destruction by Zulu warriors on an Isandhlwana slope in 1879. Bravely they fight to the end in the classic and outdated British Square.

For Dick Francis fans, there is "Slayride," a thriller about English jockeys brought to Norway to race horses. In "Eliminate the Middle Man" by Max Wilk, trouble ensues when Gene Denby, A TV producer of questionable talent, who is visiting Greece, promises to deliver a package in London.

"Manipulators" by John Rossiter reveals the interaction of criminals and police. Written by a former London police officer, the novel revolves around Detective Sergeant Harry Dodson, an honest policeman.

Deny Profits Were Hidden

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) says statements made by U.S. Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum about Sohio finances are "reckless and erroneous."

The Cleveland Democrat has charged that Sohio uses special accounting, hid real profits and is passing the costs of its Alaskan oil pipeline development along to customers through price hikes. He charged that Sohio's real profits for 1973 were more than $200 million, although Sohio reported the net income at only $89.4 million.

Metzenbaum said Thursday the Federal Energy Office is auditing Sohio's financial records at his request.

Sohio issued its statement in response to questions asked by Metzenbaum during a recent Senate Interior subcommittee hearing in Cleveland. Sohio officials said the response was delayed because the company was unable to answer some of the senator's questions immediately.

Richard M. Donaldson, Sohio vice president and general counsel, said work on the Alaskan pipeline "has had practically no effect on our reported income." He said the pipeline expenses "with minor exceptions...are not now being charged against our revenues."

Churchman Fights Police Repression

NEW YORK (AP) — South America's daring church battler for human rights, Roman Catholic Archbishop Helder Camera of Brazil, spoke recently of police-state suppressions in his homeland and added:

"If the religions of the world do not bring moral pressure to bear upon those responsible for such crimes, humanity will no longer trust them to speak in the name of God."

The archbishop, presented in Norway with a "People's Peace Prize" of $264,000 for his struggles in behalf of justice and nonviolence, used to be virtually alone among church leaders in his outspoken clash with military regimes.

But that is no longer the case. Mounting opposition of Catholics and Protestants to oppressive government tactics in South America, particularly in Brazil and Chile, is showing up both there and in the United States.

In the first action of its kind, the administrative board of U.S. Catholic bishops has charged repression of human rights in Chile and Brazil and urged the U.S. government to condition its economic aid on changes in those policies.

The U.S. bishops said they acted "in solidarity" with churches both in Chile and Brazil, meaning that the protest had the backing of bishops in the two South American countries.

"It was a historic action," says the Rev. Frederick McGuire of Washington, D.C., head of the U.S. Catholic Conference Latin American division, noting that the U.S. hierarchy usually maintains a diplomatic silence about foreign regimes.

Father McGuire, who recently made a fact-finding trip to Chile and reported widespread arrests, torture, intimidation and other persecution, foresaw rising protests from the church leadership there.

He said Cardinal Raul Silva, president of the Chilean bishops' conference, previously has kept a "low profile," hoping the problems could be worked out quietly, but information now is that he is changing his view and soon will take a "stronger stand."

Art Theft Intermediary Summoned

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The intermediary in the return of two stolen Rembrandt paintings is among 31 persons summoned to appear Tuesday before a special Hamilton County Grand Jury.

James Hough, 37, an Oxford, Ohio, real estate broker and bar owner, returned a check for $15,000 to the Taft Museum after the paintings and $100,000 ransom were recovered.

Hough approached museum officials with one of the two Rembrandt paintings, "Portrait of a Woman," following the Dec. 18 theft in which a guard was overpowered.

John Warrington, chairman of the museum board, who retained Hough, will also appear as will newsmen, television news directors, FBI agents and police.

The second painting was recovered after days of negotiations. Shortly after the "Man Leaning on a Sill" was found in suburban Loveland, police and FBI agents rounded up 10 persons.

Three were charged with possession of stolen goods. No indictments have yet been returned.

Annual Budgets Unlikely For State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal to put the State of Ohio on annual budgets is gasping for life in the Senate Finance Committee.

The bill by Sen. Ronald Mottl, D-24 Parma, barely survived a second hearing after John Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, declared himself neutral personally, then offered many reasons why it would be a bad idea.

Olsen said he awaited information about an alternative plan being tried in Wisconsin. Legislators there make an annual review of the state's twoyear budget. The program provides for interim changes after the review.

Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, asked Olsen to provide the Finance Committee with information on that system when it becomes available. The Gilligan administration official agreed.

Other committee members said they probably will oppose any change in Ohio's existing plan of two-year budgets. They balk particularly at the prospect of having to hire additional fiscal personnel who would have to work practically year-around preparing an annual budget.

Sen. Robert T. Secrest, D-20 Cambridge, said the General Assembly already has the 7-member State Controlling Board made up of legislators. The board makes budget adjustments and withhold appropriations when it feels it advisable.

Secrest said he favored taking a look at what is happening in Wisconsin "where the whole legislature apparently is doing what the Controlling Board does here."

"I don't know what we're going to do with a 132-member Controlling Board," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jenkins returned home Wednesday evening after a ten-day vacation at Royal Palm Beach, Fla.

Members of the King's Helpers Class of the United Methodist church remember the class meeting at Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rhymers Saturday evening. Be sure to bring your Stanley orders.

Those enjoying the party were Sherrie and Scott Spires, Faith Byrd, Jason and Denise Valentine, Mathew and Scott Speakman, Tammy, Kevin and Kim Clifton, Mindy and Cheryl Hartranft, Dawn Renee Hartranft, Kelly,

He referred to Ohio's 99-member House and 33-member Senate.

Mottl apparently would take defeat philosophically. "We'll just have to keep trying," he said.

A raid that failed. That's what insiders say caused James Marshall's ouster as head of the 33,000-member Ohio Civil Service Employees Association.

An OCSEA official said that Marshall worked out an agreement last summer with Herschel Sigall, director of the AFL-CIO affiliate, State Employees Union.

Under the agreement, Sigall would leave the AFL-CIO group and bring members into OCSEA, the official said.

"Sigall promised 6,000 to 8,000 members would follow him," said the OCSEA official. "He never could bring more than 1,600."

This source said the new members were not enough to pay for the additional overhead, which included

Kathy and Denny Compton and Nicole Carper.

Mrs. Alvena Judy, Mrs. Lenna Turvey, Mrs. Ruth Hunt, Mrs. Roanne Spung and Mrs. Lucia Spangler, members of the United Methodist Women's Society attended the tea at Hedges Chapel Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bruck of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spung and Karen of Circleville were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spung and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Strawser.

What makes this Chrysler a Superstar?

What makes my Chrysler Newport a Superstar are all the things that make it a super car. I mean the ride's so smooth... I mean the full carpeting is so soft... I mean everything's so luxurious! And this car's got room for a whole family, with a trunk to match. But some of the neatest things are how it runs on regular gas, hardly ever needs an ignition tune-up... and it's the lowest priced Chrysler of all! Hey, if you want to be farther ahead in the long run, come on in and ask for my Chrysler Newport Superstar. They'll know what you mean.

Baseball Officially Opens

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Baseball players don't have to punch clocks, but as of today any unsigned player will be considered late for his job.

The usual excuses for tardiness like oversleeping, missed train connections or no gas are irrelevant here. For the most part, what's keeping some 35 players from their March 1 date with calisthenics in sunny Florida, Arizona and California is money.

"They told me there was not going to be any more money and I told them I wouldn't be there for training," said Sparky Lyle, a premier relief pitcher who plays for and argues money with the New York Yankees.

Lyle said on a radio station in Beverly, Mass., that the Yankees first asked him to take a $5,000 pay cut, then offered the hard-throwing left-hander the same pay as last year.

Lyle got off to a hot start in 1973, then cooled down to finish the year with a 5-9 record, a 2.51 ERA and 27 saves.

The Yankees are second in the league in unsigned players with four. Slugging center fielder Bobby Murcer, third baseman Celerino Sanchez and second baseman Horace Clarke are also unsigned.

The Baltimore Orioles have 11 unsigned bodies floating around, including 1973 rookie sensations Rich Coggins and Al Bumbry, catcher Andy Etchebarren, power-hitting Earl Williams and pitchers Doyle Alexander and Bob Reynolds.

Unsigned is also the status of Billy Conigliaro, the only player from the World Champion Oakland A's yet to agree to contract terms.

It's understandable that Conigliaro, who is also seeking some assurance that he won't be traded, is having trouble reaching the same money figure as owner Charles O. Finley.

Finley is about $85,000 poorer after five A's won their arbitration disputes. The Los Angeles Dodgers, who announced the signing of pitcher Al Downing Thursday, have two big holdouts, 18-game winner Don Sutton and slugging catcher Joe Ferguson.

Other major holdouts were: Pat Kelly and Luis Alvarado of the Chicago White Sox, Garry Maddox and Gary Matthews of the San Francisco Giants, Gonzalo Marquez and Horacio Pina of the Chicago Cubs and Dave Roberts, Gene Locklear, Enzo Hernandez and Vincente Romo of the San Diego Padres.

In contract signings Thursday, outfielder George Hendrick of the Cleveland Indians signed his 1974 contract, General Manager Phil Seghi said, and the Kansas City Royals announced the signing of infielder Fernando Gonzalez.

Meanwhile on the arbitration front, Clarence Gaston's dispute with San Diego was decided against the Padres' outfielder.

The five-year veteran, who batted .250, hit 16 home runs and drove in 57 runs in 1973, must accept the salary the Padres offered him, an estimated $42,000.

NCAA Championships Readied

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Second-ranked Notre Dame and eighth-ranked Marquette will lead nine at-large teams into first-round action of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championships March 9.

The Irish, the team which shattered the national champion UCLA's 88-game winning streak in January, will face the Ohio Valley Conference champion in the Midwest Regional at Indiana State, and Marquette will battle the Mid-American Conference titlist in the second game.

Three sites will be utilized for the East Regional first round playoffs.

Pittsburgh, 11th-ranked, meets the Middle Atlantic Conference champion at West Virginia, No. 12 Providence tangles with the Ivy League winner at St. John's in New York, and No. 14 South Carolina squares off against the Southern Conference champion at the Palestra in Philadelphia.

Unranked Oral Roberts and Syracuse collide in the Midwest Regional at North Texas State in a doubleheader that also sends 16th-ranked Creighton against the South-west Conference champion.

Dayton goes against the Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion and the winners of the Big Sky and Western Athletic Conferences meet at Idaho State in the West Regional.

Of the at-large entries, Dayton, appearing in the NCAA tournament for the seventh time, made the best showing previously, having lost to UCLA 79-64 in the championship game in 1967.

UCLA has won the national championship each of the last seven years and nine of the last 10. However, the third ranked Bruins must win the Pacific-8 Conference championship to gain a berth in the NCAA showdown. They are tied with Southern California for first place.

Top-ranked North Carolina State, winner of the regular season title in the Atlantic Coast Conference, must win that league's tournament to get a shot at the national title.

Neither Notre Dame nor Marquette has carved much of a record in NCAA play. The Irish reached the regional finals in 1953, 1954 and 1958.

Marquette gained the regional finals in 1955 and 1969.

The second round is March 14 and the quarterfinals March 16 with the East at North Carolina State, the West at Arizona, the Midwest at Alabama and the Midwest at Oral Roberts. The semifinals on March 23 and the finals March 25 will be played at Greensboro, N.C.

Vikings Meet Dublin In Sectional Finals

Teays Valley will meet Dublin 8 p.m. Saturday in the AA sectional basketball finals at Grove City. The winner will advance to the AA sectional basketball finals at Grove City. The winner will advance to the district competition next week at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus.

Piranhas Need New Swimmers

Circleville "Piranha" swim team needs swimmers to fill out the squad if they are going to produce a winner in the Mt. Pleasant League.

Girl swimmers are needed in the eight and under group and the nine and ten age bracket. The Piranhas can also use a few more boys and girls in the 11 and 12 age class.

Anyone desiring to join the local swim team should contact coach Jim Shea, 474-3650 or 474-6242, as soon as possible.

"Progress, after two months of winter practice, is fairly good," Circleville coaches stated. "We could go even further and say they have been very good. Our quality of swimmers this year appears to be as good, if not better, than we have had for several years but we still have the problem of filling up the squad," the coaches said.

Circleville Sets Junior High Fete

Circleville Junior High winter sports banquet will be held 6:30 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria.

The seventh, eighth and ninth grade basketball and wrestling teams and the junior high cheerleaders will be honored at the affairs.

It will be a carry in dinner and everyone is asked to bring their own table service.

Westfall Girls Win Cage Finals

Westfall's girl basketball team ended their season Thursday with a 42-31 decision over Washington C.H. on the loser's court.

Cindy Schleich paced Westfall with 18 points, Karen Marshall added eight, Kelly Steinhäuser and Susan Wright each tallied six, Rae Fenstermaker netted three and Carol Clem had one. Betsy Kreiger led Washington with 16 markers.

The Vikings downed Mifflin, 57-51, and Dublin stopped Logan Elm, 67-57, to gain berths in the battle for the sectional title.

Both teams are members of the Metropolitan League and have met twice this season. The Vikings stopped the Shamrocks on both occasions and will be out to make it three in a row.

Teays Valley holds a 17-2 mark on the season while Dublin is 10-9 overall. Starting for Dublin will be: Bob Townsend, 5-foot-6; Dave Shaver, 6-foot-2; Dave Stevens, 5-foot-11; Rob Termeer, 6-foot-2; and Ron Termeer, 6-foot-3.

Coach Bob Hoover will probably go with a starting lineup of: Craig Pontius, 5-foot-11, and Jay Brinker, 6-foot, at the guards; Jim Logsdon, 6-foot-3, at center; and Terry Collins, 6-foot-2, and Jeff Anderson, 6-foot-3, at the forwards.

Westfall Sets Sports Banquet

Westfall High School will hold its annual winter sports banquet 6:30 p.m. March 14 in the high school gym.

The high school and junior high school basketball teams and cheerleaders and the girl's volleyball and basketball team will be honored at the banquet.

It will be a carry in dinner and everyone is requested to bring their own table service. The public is invited.

Milwaukee Bucks Top Pistons

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The lights haven't gone out on Oscar Robertson's brilliant career, after all, but they're fading fast on the Detroit Pistons.

Playing at least in flashes like the Big O of yesteryears, the 35-year-old Robertson poured in nine of his 15 points in the first quarter Thursday night as the Milwaukee Bucks flattened the Pistons 113-90 in a National Basketball Association game.

In the only other NBA game Thursday night, the Golden State Warriors trounced the Portland Trail Blazers, 129-109. In the American Basketball Association's only game, the Utah Stars defeated the Denver Rockets 127-105.

Former third baseman Ken Boyer will manage the Tulsa Oilers in the American Association next season. The Oilers are in the St. Louis Cardinal farm system.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

It is generally said that the young should learn from their elders and we feel that this certainly has a ring of truth to it—But we also feel that there are times when the shoe should go on the other foot.

Thursday's edition of The Herald carried a Letter to the Editor from a pair of young men who were speaking for their schools and their individual teams.

In case anyone missed reading the letter, we suggest that they pick up a copy of the paper and listen to a lot of sense from these youngsters.

They explained the amiable feeling that prevails between their respective wrestling teams and how they work together to make things better all the way around.

The letter was signed by Steve Watters of Circleville and Bill Hurley of Teays Valley who were speaking for all the members of their teams.

We know both of these young men and are proud to consider their friends of ours as well as the rest of the athletes involved.

In our book, Pickaway County has its share of fine young people and we believe in praising them—not knocking them. The feelings displayed in their letter must certainly be considered good sportsmanship—But in our opinion it goes a little further than sportsmanship—It's Class!

Our "fearless" forecast—We're liking the Viking in the battle with Dublin.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

St. John's Sets NIT Competition

NEW YORK (AP) — St. John's University, sporting a 19-5 record, turned away from the possibility of an at-large bid from the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament Thursday to make its 22nd appearance in the National Invitational Tournament and seek a record fifth triumph in the 36-year-old post-season event.

"The NCAA had told us that we were under strong consideration for a bid," said St. John's Athletic Director Jack Kaiser. "Before they officially told us, we wanted them to know how we felt."

So the Redmen will join Massachusetts, Manhattan, Hawaii and 13 other teams to be announced later in the annual event scheduled for March 16-24 at Madison Square Garden.

Massachusetts was less exuberant about its upcoming fourth visit to the tournament. The Minutemen, 20-4 with one game still to be played, had hoped for an NCAA bid but were passed over when Providence, Pitt and Syracuse were selected as the three Eastern at-large representatives.

Manhattan, 16-6 with two contests to go, will be after its first victory in 12 appearances. The Jaspers won the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference Holiday Festival earlier this season behind center Bill Campion.

Hawaii's Rainbow brings its colorful uniforms and barefoot cheerleaders to the tourney for the second time. Sparked by guard Tom Henderson, Hawaii has compiled a 17-7 mark for the season.

The remainder of the field for the event, made difficult by the wholesale offers of the NCAA, has been complicated further by the new Collegiate Commissioner's Association Tournament. The CCAT has been assured of representatives, other than champions, of eight major conferences.

Merv Rettenmund To Start In Center For Cincy Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Merv Rettenmund, the Cincinnati Reds only spring training experiment, is slated to start in centerfield.

But Rettenmund set the record straight from the beginning.

"If I'm hitting, I'll be out there," said the player who came from Baltimore in exchange for pitcher Ross Grimsley.

Manager Sparky Anderson said Rettenmund will start in center in all games this spring for the defending National League Western Division champions.

Anderson said he'd like to avoid platooning Rettenmund in center, although he hasn't played the position since 1971.

Anderson platooned Cesar Geronimo and George Foster there last year and Rettenmund might be platooned with Ken Griffey in right if he doesn't hit.

"This is a winning organization," said Rettenmund, "just like it was in Baltimore. If you don't do the job, someone else will. I know I have to prove I can play centerfield and I know I have to hit."

"During my good years I hit a little higher against righthanders than lefties," said the 30-year-old Rettenmund.

"But last year I was platooned and the majority of pitchers I faced were left-handed. From July on I hit close to .400, so I think I can hit lefties."

"I think I can do it, but my only goal is to go through the year without injury. I've been hurt the past two years. You can't play at all if you're hurt."

Gary Nolan, still nursing arm troubles, did not throw Thursday during the first workout. Roger Nelson, however, appeared making a recovery. Both players were out most of all last season.

Shortstop Dave Concepcion, outfielder Cesar Geronimo and Pedro Borbon were expected to report in today from Latin America.

Anderson said he will carry three catchers this season, John Bench, Bill Plummer and Hal King.

When the New York Mets captured the National League East title one day after the regular season ended, pitcher Tug McGraw marked up his 25th save of the year.

Cubs Open Season With Mass Of New Talent

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Whitey Lockman of the drastically reshuffled Chicago Cubs covers it all when he says "our infield will be one of the most interesting areas to watch develop this spring."

That infield must be rebuilt entirely around shortstop Don Kessinger, with third baseman Ron Santo and second baseman Glenn Beckert dispatched in the Cubs' big winter housecleaning and first base a carryover problem.

Gone, too, is the once high-voltage battery of big winner Ferguson Jenkins and catcher Randy Hundley. Unhappy owner Phil Wrigley, irked over another Cub failure with a fifth-place finish in the National League East, finally backed up the truck after the 1973 season.

As a result, Wrigley Field fans won't be able to tell the players without a scorecard this season.

In all, the Cubs traded away five erstwhile indispensables and got nine players in return with no fewer than six tabbed for regular service.

Lockman, starting his second full managerial season, contends the Cubs now can replace their power image with youth and speed and turn "this rebirth season into a championship year."

Planking veteran shortstop Kessinger will be third baseman Bill Madlock, 23, and second baseman Vic Harris, 24, both acquired from the Texas Rangers for Jenkins, a 20-game winner six straight seasons until he faltered to 14-16 last year.

The arrival of Jerry Morales, 25, in an exchange with the San Diego Padres for All-Star second baseman Beckert, presumably will spring 35-year-old Billy Williams from left field to wide-open first base.

There's even a change of first-line performers behind the plate with catcher George Mitterwald of the Minnesota Twins obtained in a swap for one-time Cub iron man Hundley.

Provided Harris, backed by supersub Paul Popovich, makes the grade at second base, the Cubs should be capable down the middle through to center field where Rick Monday will be flanked by sparkplug Jose Cardenal in right and probably the equally speedy Morales in left.

Pitching may be the Cubs' deepest problem, conceding that newcomers Madlock, Harris and Morales become established regulars.

Even though Lockman claims he has plenty of candidates for the starting rotation, the book shows only two solid firstliners — Rick Reuschel, 14-15 last season, and Burt Hooton (14-17).

Along with former ace Jenkins, the Cubs traded away their No. 1 reliever, Bob Locker, who had a 10-6 record last season and went to the Oakland A's in exchange for Horacio Pina (6-3).

According to Lockman, potential starting candidates include Bill Bonham (7-5), Ray Burris (1-1), veteran Milt Pappas (7-12), along with Steve Stone, one of four players obtained from the White Sox in Santo's self-propelled deal with the crosstown club.

Stone, who had a 6-11 White Sox record and struck out 138 in 176 innings, seems a good bet for a starting role, but it's probably wishful thinking by Lockman in tabbing two other ex-White Soxers, Ken Frailing and Jim Krummel, as front-line mound contenders.

Pappas, 34, admittedly surprised he wasn't traded away, couldn't win for losing late last season as he struggled vainly to get the one victory needed for 100 National League victories.

When, and if, Milt gets his next triumph, he'll have won 100 or more games in both major leagues, a feat thus far only achieved by Jim Bunning in modern times.

Without Locker, who appeared in 62 games and had 18 saves last season, Lockman will have bullpen troubles unless Pina and Dave LaRoche can ride to the rescue.

LaRoche, long a disappointment after his acquisition from the Minnesota Twins for Bill Hands and Joe Decker in 1972, showed signs of perking up last season. The hard-throwing lefty came up with a 4-1 record and four saves in 44 games.

After his first look at his assembled players here, Lockman chortled. "This is what's making it great this season. Their eagerness, their willingness to work, and especially the idea of competing for jobs. Competition, that's something we haven't had around here for a long time."

OSU Faces Indiana Squad

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Playing Big Ten leader Indiana gives an opponent both offensive and defensive problems, said Ohio State basketball Coach Fred Taylor Thursday.

And the problem is at hand for Taylor and his last-place Buckeyes Saturday. Indiana visits St. John Arena for its only meeting this season with Ohio State in a regionally-televized matinee contest.

"Indiana is playing real good defense and they're letting out the shaft on offense now," Taylor said, whose team has a 2-10 record to Indiana's 11-1 mark in Big Ten play. Indiana, on an 11-game winning streak, has a one-game lead over Michigan heading into its last two conference games.

"They're physically and mentally tough," the Ohio State coach said of the Hoosiers, coached by Bobby Knight, a former player for Taylor.

Taylor is unsure of his starters after their second conference victory at Northwestern Monday night, 72-69 in overtime.

"The biggest thing was the way our kids hung in there," said Taylor, whose team trailed by three points in the last seconds of regulation play.

Taylor said he would start freshman Larry Bolden at one guard spot, but the other backcourt position "was up in the air."

The front line will come from Wardell Jackson, Craig Taylor, Bill Andreas and Steve Wenner.

This is the last heavy Saturday of the regular Ohio college season, with the Mid-American championship still unsettled. The rest of the Ohio league titles have been stowed away.

Ohio University can earn a sole MAC crown by winning at Bowling Green. However, if Bowling Green wins and Toledo triumphs at Kent State, Ohio, Bowling Green and Toledo would create the first three-way split of the MAC championship in its 28 seasons.

A playoff for an NCAA berth would begin Monday night at Ohio State. Ohio and Bowling Green would meet in the first game. The survivor would take on Toledo Wednesday night for a trip to the Midwest Regional first round play Saturday, March 9, at Terre Haute, Ind.

Other games Saturday have Marquette at Cincinnati, Northern Michigan at Dayton, Washington and Jefferson at Hiram, Akron at Bellarmine, Gannon at Youngstown, St. Vincent, Pa., at Walsh, Cedarville at Wright State and Ashland at Tri-State, Ind.

Louisville, Bradley Clash For MVC Championship

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After running over the St. Louis Billikens, the Louisville Cardinals are sitting in the driver's seat in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race.

"I'm glad I'm in our shoes instead of theirs," says Louisville Coach Denny Crum, talking about Saturday's meeting with Bradley for the MVC title.

The Cardinals took a onegame lead over Bradley after beating St. Louis 95-85 Thursday night behind a powerhouse performance by Wesley Cox. That set up a dramatic meeting between the front-runners at Peoria, Ill.

St. Louis Coach Bob Polk is picking Louisville.

"I think the Cardinals will win on Saturday and they will be a fine representative of the MVC in the NCAA playoffs," he said.

Polk is especially impressed with Cox, the Louisville freshman who killed his team with 25 points and 11 rebounds.

In another game involving basketball royalty, 12th-ranked Providence whipped Canisius 97-69. In the first round of the Southern Conference playoffs, Davidson beat The Citadel 82-69 and William & Mary tripped East Carolina 75-67 in double overtime.

Marvin Barnes, the nation's leading rebounder, hauled down 21 rebounds and scored 26 points to pace Providence over Canisius. Larry Fogle, the nation's leading scorer, couldn't start for Canisius because of an ankle injury.

Led by Greg Dunn and Larry Horowitz, Davidson broke away from The Citadel in the last seven minutes. Ron Satterthwaite and Mike Arizin combined for 14 points in the second overtime to help William & Mary knock East Carolina out of the Southern Conference playoffs.

Kenyon Leads In Swimming Contest

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—The Kenyon College Lords, who are trying for their 22nd straight Ohio Conference Swimming championship, held a solid lead going into the second day of competition today.

Kenyon rolled up 157 points Thursday, trailed by Oberlin with 120 points.

Bruins Top Red Wings

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

In hockey jargon, forward Phil Esposito is known as a scorer; forward Claude Larose isn't.

But only Esposito lived up to his reputation Thursday night.

Esposito did the expected by scoring the 450th and 451st goals of his career, becoming the ninth player in National Hockey League history to crack the 450-goal barrier while leading the Boston Bruins to a 8-1 romp over the Detroit Red Wings.

Larose's did the unexpected by scoring his fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh goals of the week, becoming the first Claude Larose to score four goals in a NHL game while leading the Montreal Canadiens to a 7-1 rout of the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Elsewhere in the NHL, the Toronto Maple Leafs trimmed the New York Islanders 6-4; the Los Angeles Kings downed the Atlanta Flames 3-1; the Chicago Black Hawks and Buffalo Sabres skated to a 2-2 tie and the Minnesota North Stars and Philadelphia Flyers played to a 2-2 tie.

Bob Johnson Joins Cleveland Indians

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — When you've knocked around in professional baseball for 10 years, it matters little what league you are pitching in or for what team.

This is the attitude of 30-year-old veteran righthander Bob Johnson who is back in the American League hoping to extend his career a few more years with the Cleveland Indians.

OU, Bowling Green To Clash Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Both coaches agree the team that controls the tempo will win that Mid-American Conference basketball title showdown between Ohio University and host Bowling Green Saturday night.

"We'd like to run, but Bowling Green has become a patient team," said Ohio's Jim Snyder, already assured of at least a co-championship.

In 1961 — the year Roger Maris hit 61 home runs — 13 were hit against the Chicago White Sox. He hit nine against the Washington Senators that year.

Aeros Win WHA Clash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Before the season started, Mark Howe was slightly troubled by the prospect of playing on a professional hockey team with his father, Gordie. The 18-year-old left wing smiled sheepishly and asked, "How is it going to sound in a pro game when a guy yells to his linemate, 'Dad! Dad! Gimme the puck!'"

"I don't think I like it," the junior Howe said. Like it or not, Howe—the 45-year-old one—assisted on all three of Mark's goals Thursday night as the Houston Aeros clobbered the Chicago Cougars 9-4 in a World Hockey Association game.

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Toronto Toros blanked the Winnipeg Jets 3-0; the Jersey Knights tied the New England Whalers 3-3; the Cleveland Crusaders and Minnesota Fighting Saints tied 6-6, and the Quebec Nordiques bombed the Vancouver Canucks 9-4.

Reds Fan Offers Money To Aaron

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Atlanta Braves say they won't let slugger Henry Aaron play here when they open the season against the Cincinnati Reds of the National League in April.

But one die-hard Reds fan says he hasn't lost hope.

Ron Jurgens said he's offering $2,000 for Aaron's 714th homer that would tie Babe Ruth's record. And Jurgens is offering $3,000 for tie-breaker No. 715.

Washington Didn't Sleep

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington slept here and there across early America, but records show he seldom enjoyed a decent night's rest.

Fleas tormented Washington in a frontier cabin. His straw mattress once caught fire. He paid "extravagantly dear" rent at a West Indian resort, then came down with smallpox. He endured a cramped bunk aboard a crowded ferry.

The first harness races were held in England in 1829.

A spokesman for the Pickaway County Historical Society announced today, that all area financial institutions are assisting the Society by distributing information and application blanks for the forthcoming reproduction of the "History of Franklin and Pickaway Counties, with Illustrations and Biographical Sketches of Some of the Prominent Men and Pioneers". Mental Patient Reduction Pushed AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio hopes to reduce by one-fourth the population of its state hospitals and mental institutions before next year, Gov. John J. Gilligan says.

The governor told members of the North Central Regional Conference of the National Association for Retarded Citizens Thursday that Ohio will accomplish this goal by expanding community programs and hiring "the best possible people" to staff them.

Gilligan said the state is building new community facilities near Cleveland, Toledo, Youngstown and Dayton. These facilities will be small, Gilligan said, and located within urban areas, so parents will not have far to travel to visit children.
